OCTOBER 1911.

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS FIX DATE OF COUNTY SEAT ELECTION.

The People of Jackson County Will Vote on the Relocation of the County Seat October 19th.

The board of county commissioners have at last fixed the date of the special election to settle the county seat question. The date fixed is Thursday October 19th. So it is only forty-one days from the present time until the people will have a chance to give expression of their desires on a question that has been agitated more or less for more than a quarter of a century. That the contest will be a spirited one is already well established, by the prolonged opposition to petition for an election. The date of the election, while not far in the future, seems to be satisfactory to all parties. The people can vote their sentiments now as well as a year hence. October 19th will find the people ready to cast their ballots and settle this question as provided by law.

McLean's

Enquirer Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is beyond doubt no greater or more regular newspaper in the United States than the Cincinnati Enquirer; it is a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John R. McLean.
The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes it incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as in those of greater magnitude.

DIPLOMATIC AUCTIONS.

Eric-a-brac Bargains Eagerly Sought at the Shrine of the Red Flag.

There is a graceful custom among foreign diplomats at the capital that we may as well trench upon. I refer to the auction sale which frequently befalls on the occasion of the recall of one of our alien ambassadors or ministers.

For two weeks before their excellencies decamp the local papers revel in a long and lurid "ad." recounting the recall of the ambassador or minister and declaring how on a certain day all people so minded are invited to appear and contest at public vendue for a dazzling lot of plunder in said "ad." set forth.

Prime among the properties for sale you will notice wines and many a thing besides that are as articles of commerce highly tariffed. But in these cases courtesy has held the tariff at bay. All of a legation's wines and cigars and furniture—in fact, everything of a personal sort that a legation causes to be brought to America—is passed scot free at our customs. One will readily discern that a ripe profit might be made to roll pleasantly up at one of these untariffed legation sales. Our own tradespeople must, however, pay the fiddler in each notable instance.

At these sales snobdom turns stoutly out. The bidding is hot and fast and high. There is nothing so lusted for by a certain sort of American, cringing numerous hereabout, as a wine which has been justified by an ambassador's taste, or a piece of furniture or Eric-a-brac which has been soiled by noble and titled contact. And, therefore, these legation auctions furnish the most heated bid combats. And many a fool is fleeced.

It is also to be remarked that these sales string out in endless fashion, day following day, as fools flock to be bunked. The stock, whether of wine or furniture or cast off noble garments, never runs low. The widow's store of oil showed no better staying powers.

As long as custom hangs about the chambers about the red flag, and the stock of goods to be disposed of —day with current unabated.

For, mark you, rather than disap-point or send any full hearted alien chaser away from this sale with aching heart and empty hands the auctioneer each night moves in a new stock to replace the disappearances of the day before. Each morning the legation rooms are as unstripped, the cabinets as full of Eric-a-brac, the bins as replete with rare old wines as at the beginning.

Thus it runs forward until no more sheep appear to be shorn and even the toadies have enough. Then the flag comes down and the legation sale is at an end.—New York Journal.

To Care For Visitors.

From the many inquiries received regarding the Free Street Fair it is presumed that during the Fair week Seymour will be visited by a vast concourse of people.

As the hotels will be unable to accommodate all the visitors with lodging it is expedient that some other arrangement be made for the entertainment of those who remain with us over night.

Any citizen who is prepared to lodge one or more persons will please report to the management, who will take name and address and make arrangements accordingly.

The Klondyke Country and Colorado.

Are now the two principal gold mining fields in the world. We can give you information about both, but as the Klondyke Country will be impenetrable until next summer, why not go to Colorado this fall and look over the golden opportunities of that state.

It is cheaper and easier to go to Colorado, and we will venture dollars to doughnuts that more net money can be made in Colorado in twelve months, with less capital, than in the outskirts of the Arctic Circle during the same period, at forty times the expense.

Don't think because you are sick and nothing seems to give you relief that you can't be cured.

There must be a cure for you somewhere.

If your doctor can't cure you, perhaps he has mistaken the cause. Anybody is liable to make a mistake sometimes.

One in three of us suffer from indigestion, and one out of three dyspeptics doesn't know it. That is, he may know he is sick, but he blames it to something else.

Indigestion is the cause of half of our dangerous diseases.

Shaker Digestive Cordial, made from tonic medicinal roots and herbs, is the most natural cure for indigestion. It relieves the symptoms and cures the disease gently, naturally, efficiently, giving fresh life, strength and health to sick dyspeptics.

THE DIAMOND'S HOME

THE IMMENSELY RICH FIELD OF WHICH KIMBERLEY IS THE CENTER.

Wonderful Abundance of Jewels In a Very Small Area—The Peculiar Formations Which Surround and Lie Above the Diamonds—How They Are Taken.

Before the Kimberley mines were discovered most of the diamonds added to the world's stock came from either Hindustan or from Brazil. The largest deposits were found in Golconda, in the Hyderabad territory, and in Minas Ge-raes, in Brazil. The African discoveries first showed scientific men what the origin and native place of the diamond really were. In the Indian and Brazilian fields it was plainly not native to the soil and was picked up out of differing formations. In South Africa it was found in a rotten rock, apparently forming part of the earth's crust, and not a mere superficial deposit, as the others had been. The great mines in this region, according to a correspondent of the London Standard, are situated within a circle about 8½ miles in diameter.
There are five principal mines, the largest being only about 45 acres in extent. They are the famous Kimberley, Bultfontein, De Beers, Du Toits Pan and Wesselsfontein. They are of fabulous richness. Here the town of Kimberley has sprung up.

The district is about 4,000 feet above sea level and lies at the northern edge of a plateau which extends from the Bokkeveld mountains, near the cape of Good Hope, to the border of the Transvaal. There are mines in the Orange Free State, two being of considerable note, one 30, the other 60 miles away, with several more of less importance both there and in the Kimberley district. The river washings are still continued, but the yield of gems from them is not very rich or steady. Mining in the rock was carried on at first in a rough and ready fashion, but all that has changed. In most parts of the district, after clearing away some feet of surface soil the excavator comes upon a dark, coaly shale 100 feet or more thick. Beneath this lies a mass of igneous rock allied to basalt, more than three times as thick, and that is succeeded by a blackish shale, with bands of hard sandstone. But here and there instead of the shale, though surrounded by it, like a pond in a field, is a mass of curious rotten stuff, in which sometimes fragments of shale and sometimes hard mineral grains can be seen.

This at first is of a rusty yellowish color. Then in about 100 feet it turns to a dull green and becomes a little more solid—sometimes distinctly harder than dry clay. The two rocks are identical in origin, but the upper or "yellow ground" is more decomposed than the lower or "blue ground." Gradually the rock ceases to yield to spade or pick.
It has to be quarried in the usual way and is quite as hard as a bit of good limestone. It has now quite a different appearance, seeming to consist largely of fragments, varying in shape and size, some angular, some rounded, from at least two inches in diameter down to very small grains. Some evidently are pieces of rock, others are minerals (often broken), but occasionally looking like crystals). All these are set in a dark greenish colored matrix. This, then—whether rotten or solid—is the diamond bearing rock. It seems to fill huge pipes or shafts, which somehow or other have been driven or "punched" through the shale and underlying rocks, and these go vertically downward to what distance is unknown, but certainly not less than 1,500 feet.

At first the material was "pegged out" in a number of small claims, and the soft stuff was comparatively easy to work, but by degrees many difficulties arose. As the excavations were deepened the claims were with difficulty kept separate. Slips and falls of material were constantly occurring, not only in the "pipe" itself, but from the "country rock" at its side. Water became troublesome and working expensive. Cooperation and command of capital were soon absolute necessities.

About 1880 the mines had been acquired by companies, and they are now united under the name of the De Beers Consolidated mines. Deep shafts have been sunk through the "country rock," from which levels are given to the "pipes." The diamond bearing rock is quarried away, as it were, layer by layer and is taken up to the surface.
During this process a diamond may be discovered, but that is a mere chance.
The rock is then conveyed to an inclosure, where it is exposed to atmospheric action in order that, if possible, it may crumble naturally to pieces and the risk be avoided of splitting the contained diamonds by crushing it up. This, however, is sometimes necessary.

At last, after being subjected to various processes, including washing, the mineral residue is picked over for diamonds.

The quantity of diamonds which have been produced by these mines is something astonishing. Indeed the directors find it needful to limit the output lest they should glut the market. It is said that by the end of 1892 about ten tons of diamonds had been yielded by these mines, valued at £600,000,000. They would fill, as Crookes, the well known English scientist and lecturer, stated in a recent lecture on the diamond and these jewels, a box 5 feet square and 6 feet high. The annual product is now about half a ton, and some 8,000 persons, of whom rather more than one-fifth are white, are employed in the works. The above estimate includes diamonds of all kinds, bad and good, for one stone may be fit for nothing but cutting purposes, while another may be a gem of the first water. The South African diamonds very frequently appear to be broken. Colored specimens are not rare, and a slight yellow tinge is commonly perceptible. Differences exist between the diamonds found in the several mines, so that an expert can generally identify the locality from which a stone has come.

THE MAKING OF POISON.

A Factory Where the Most Deadly Drugs
Are Prepared.

In London is a strange establishment, behind a wilderness of warehouses and tumbledown tenements, in a remote suburb. Its massive gates are locked and jealously guarded. A visitor must not only be careful where he steps and refrain from touching, he must also breathe with great caution. One of the terrible poisons manufactured here is pure anhydrous acid, a drug seldom seen outside a chemical laboratory. This is the deadliest of all known poisons.
The discoverer was stricken dead from inhaling its fumes. From 3 to 5 per cent of this chemical added to 95 or 97 parts of water makes prussic acid. This diluted poison causes instant death, even when taken in minute quantities.

Next to anhydrous acid, the worst poison they make is cyanide of potassium. Last year they turned out over 1,000 tons of it. Five grains being a fatal dose, the annual output would be sufficient to kill 2,500,000 people. In the workroom, where men are gathered around a witch's cauldron containing over a hundred weight of molten cyanide, a strange picture is presented.
The seething mass of white hot liquid poison, with the lambent play of the furnace fires, the phantom faces of the workmen, enveloped in an uncanny looking glass mask, peering into the heart of the dreadful mixture through the thick atmosphere, are a terrible sight. In another room, where are tons of the finished product, looking like crystallized sugar, "good enough to eat," one man is never allowed alone.
For some inexplicable reason it exercises a strange fascination for the men who inhale its fumes. They are haunted by a desire to eat it. But, knowing that satisfying the craving means instant death, most, but not all, are able to resist it. Aside from this fascination its manufacture is not considered unhealthy. The same cannot be said of corrosive sublimate. Its fumes are deadly.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways.
The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble or some sort. The error is easily made and it may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty four hours—sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble.
The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need any medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention the Republican and send your address to Dr.
Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

OCTOBER 19TH.

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS FIX DATE OF COUNTY SEAT ELECTION.

The People of Jackson County Will Vote on the Relocation of the County Seat October 19th.

The board of county commissioners have at last fixed the date of the special election to settle the county seat question. The date fixed is Thursday October 19th. So it is only forty-one days from the present time until the people will have a chance to give expression of their desires on a question that has been agitated more or less for more than a quarter of a century. That the contest will be a spirited one is already well established, by the prolonged opposition to petition for an election. The date of the election, while not far in the future, seems to be satisfactory to all parties. The people can vote their sentiments now as well as a year hence. October 19th will find the people ready to cast their ballots and settle this question as provided by law.

is what we are after. Suppose you bring your work around and let us show you what good work we can do at a reasonable price. We are not the cheapest printers in the vicinity, but we do say we are the best. But come and see for yourself whether our printing is good enough and cheap enough to suit you.

Seymour REPUBLICAN.

McLean's Enquirer Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is beyond doubt no greater or more popular newspaper in the United States than the Cincinnati Enquirer; or a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John R. McLean. The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as in those of greater magnitude.

BUSINESS NOTES.

George M. Holman was up Tuesday from Houston on business.

Rev. F. H. Tormohlen went last evening to Columbus on business.

B. C. Lett and E. S. Whitcomb, of Surprise, came here Tuesday on business.

J. H. Sanders and Miss Ida Sanders, of Monroe county, came here last evening on business.

Edward Bennett, sr., and uncle John Raddish, of near Spraytown, were business visitors here Tuesday.

Elias D. Easton, a good farmer north of Medora, threshed his clover Monday and yesterday brought a nice lot of seed here and sold it to J. H. Hodapp.

W. H. Leigh, a progressive merchant of Marling, brought a nice lot of eggs to the city yesterday. He favored the REPUBLICAN with a pleasant business call.

Fine fall peaches are beginning to come here by wagons from Washington county. They tried to find a market but failed to do so till getting here. They know what a market Seymour is.

To Care For Visitors.

From the many inquiries received regarding the Free Street Fair it is presumed that during the Fair week Seymour will be visited by a vast concourse of people.

As the hotels will be unable to accommodate all the visitors with lodging it is expedient that some other arrangement be made for the entertainment of those who remain with us over night.

Any citizen who is prepared to lodge one or more persons will please report to the management, who will take name and address and make arrangements accordingly.

HONEYTOWN.

R. v. Stewart, of Seymour, preached here Sunday.

The picnic at Sauer's Sunday as well as the one at White Church attracted several of our young people.

Each of our Sunday schools are making preparations to attend the grand reunion at Brownstown Wednesday.

On account of the annual meeting of the Christian church held at Ewing Sunday no services were held at the Christian church here.

The Klondyke Country and Colorado. Are now the two principal gold mining fields in the world. We can give you information about both, but as the Klondyke Country will be impenetrable until next summer, why not go to Colorado this fall and look over the golden opportunities of that state.

It is cheaper and easier to go to Colorado, and we will venture dollars to doughnuts that more net money can be made in Colorado in twelve months, with less capital, than in the outskirts of the Arctic Circle during the same period, at forty times the expense.

Don't think because you are sick and nothing seems to give you relief that you can't be cured.

There must be a cure for you somewhere.

If your doctor can't cure you, perhaps he has mistaken the cause. Anybody is liable to make a mistake sometimes.

One in three of us suffer from indigestion, and one out of three dyspeptics doesn't know it. That is, he may know he is sick, but he blames it to something else.

Indigestion is the cause of half of our dangerous diseases.

Shaker Digestive Cordial, made from tonic medicinal roots and herbs, is the most natural cure for indigestion. It relieves the symptoms and cures the disease gently, naturally, efficiently, giving fresh life, strength and health to sick dyspeptics.

Wonderful Abundance of Jewels In a Very Small Area—The Peculiar Formations Which Surround and Lie Above the Diamonds—How They Are Taken.

Before the Kimberley mines were discovered most of the diamonds found to the world's stock came from either Hindustan or from Brazil. The largest deposits were found in Gokonda, in the Hyderabad territory, and in Minas Geraes, in Brazil. The African discoveries first showed scientific men what the origin and native place of the diamond really were. In the Indian and Brazilian fields it was plainly not native to the soil and was picked up out of differing formations. In South Africa it was found in a rotten rock, apparently forming part of the earth's crust, and not a mere superficial deposit, as the others had been. The great mines in this region, according to a correspondent of the London Standard, are situated within a circle about 8½ miles in diameter. There are five principal mines, the largest being only about 45 acres in extent. They are the famous Kimberley, Bultfontein, De Beers, Du Toits Pan and Wesselsfontein. They are of fabulous richness. Here the town of Kimberley has sprung up.

The district is about 4,000 feet above sea level and lies at the northern edge of a plateau which extends from the Bokkeveld mountains, near the cape of Good Hope, to the border of the Transvaal. There are mines in the Orange Free State, two being of considerable note, one 30, the other 60 miles away, with several more of less importance both there and in the Kimberley district. The river washings are still continued, but the yield of gems from them is not very rich or steady. Mining in the rock was carried on at first in a rough and ready fashion, but all that has changed. In most parts of the district, after clearing away some feet of surface soil the excavator comes upon a dark, coaly shale 100 feet or more thick. Beneath this lies a mass of igneous rock allied to basalt, more than three times as thick, and that is succeeded by a blackish shale, with bands of hard sandstone. But here and there instead of the shale, though surrounded by it, like a pond in a field, is a mass of curious rotten stuff, in which sometimes fragments of shale and sometimes hard mineral grains can be seen.

This at first is of a rusty yellowish color. Then in about 100 feet it turns to a dull green and becomes a little more solid—sometimes distinctly harder than dry clay. The two rocks are identical in origin, but the upper or "yellow ground" is more decomposed than the lower or "blue ground." Gradually the rock ceases to yield to spade or pick. It has to be quarried in the usual way and is quite as hard as a bit of good limestone. It has now quite a different appearance, seeming to consist largely of fragments, varying in shape and size, some angular, some rounded, from at least two inches in diameter down to very small grains. Some evidently are pieces of rock, others are minerals (often broken), but occasionally looking like crystals. All these are set in a dark greenish colored matrix. This, then—whether rotten or solid—is the diamond bearing rock. It seems to fill huge pipes or shafts, which somehow or other have been driven or "punched" through the shale and underlying rocks, and these go vertically downward to what distance is unknown, but certainly not less than 1,500 feet.

At first the material was "pegged out" in a number of small claims, and the soft stuff was comparatively easy to work, but by degrees many difficulties arose. As the excavations were deepened the claims were with difficulty kept separate. Slips and falls of material were constantly occurring, not only in the "pipe" itself, but from the "country rock" at its side. Water became troublesome and working expensive. Co-operation and command of capital were soon absolute necessities.

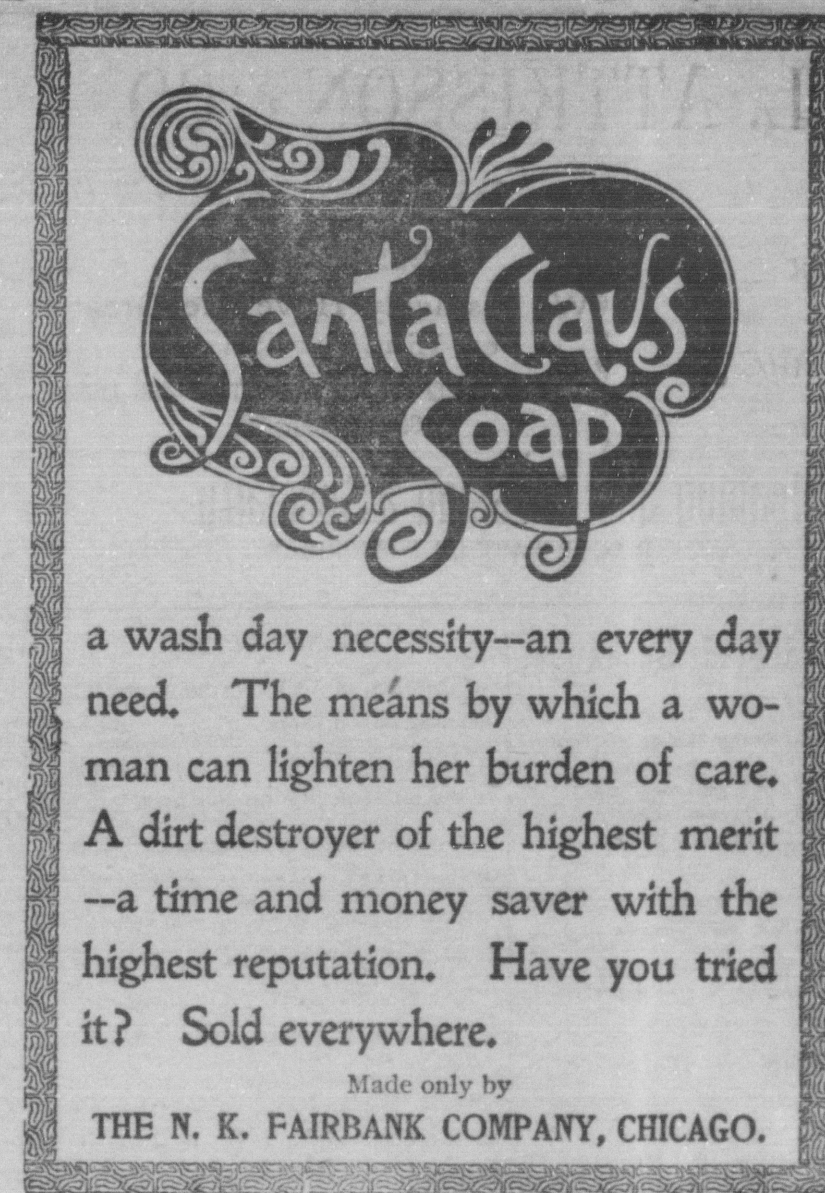

About 1880 the mines had been acquired by companies, and they are now united under the name of the De Beers Consolidated mines. Deep shafts have been sunk through the "country rock," from which levels are given to the "pipes." The diamond bearing rock is quarried away, as it were, layer by layer and is taken up to the surface. During this process a diamond may be discovered, but that is a mere chance. The rock is then conveyed to an inclosure, where it is exposed to atmospheric action in order that, if possible, it may crumble naturally to pieces and the risk be avoided of splitting the contained diamonds by crushing it up. This, however, is sometimes necessary.

At last, after being subjected to various processes, including washing, the mineral residue is picked over for diamonds. The quantity of diamonds which have been produced by these mines is something astonishing. Indeed the directors find it difficult to limit the output lest they should glut the market. It is said that by the end of 1892 about ten tons of diamonds had been yielded by these mines, valued at £60,000,000. They would fill, as Crookes, the well known English scientist and lecturer, stated in a recent lecture on the diamond and these mines, a box 5 feet square and 6 feet high. The annual product is now about half a ton, and some 8,000 persons, of whom rather more than one fifth are white, are employed in the works. The above estimate includes diamonds of all kinds, bad and good, for one stone may be fit for nothing but cutting purposes, while another may be a gem of the first water. The South African diamonds very frequently appear to be broken. Colored specimens are not rare, and a slight yellow tinge is commonly perceptible. Differences exist between the diamonds found in the several mines, so that an expert can generally identify the locality from which a stone has come.
